

Mob Osamu

I FOUN D
SOME INTER-ESTING
INFO!

CHIE-SENSEI!
AFTER STAYING UP LATE RESEAR-CHING...

WAIT, HOLD IT!

uh...
uh... murmur

I THOUGHT I SHOULD LET YOU KNOW
AS SOON AS POSSIBLE...

SINCE
IT'S YOU, MOB-SAN,
I'M SURE
YOU KNOW THIS ALREADY, BUT...

08:52
08:57

NOW'S
NOT A GOOD TIME TO TALK!

Car 3 is ready~

Car 5 also annoyed

vwoom

THIS TRAIN IS SO RICKETY!

きさらぎ

KISARAGI

GOOD THING I STEPPED OFF...

clickety

clackety

clackety

clickety

8 a.m.

08 : 25

Departed

THERE DOESN'T SEEM TO BE A TRAIN THAT WE CAN TAKE...

9 a.m.

09 : 22 → 10 :

Departed

YOU WERE TRYING TO LET THE GPS THING SLIDE BY MENTIONING IT NONCHALANTLY!

SPIRIT WORLD STATIONS ARE QUITE DANGEROUS.
GOOD THING
KAYA-SAMA WAS WITH YOU!

10 a.m.

10 : 21 → 11:
48 min. until d

UM, WELL...

ARE YOU UNABLE TO RECONVENE WITH THE KINDER-GARTEN?

Why are you even here!?

VROOOOM!!!

YOO-HOO!
TAXI
SER-VICE!

VROOM オーッ

SCREECH

EVEN IF WE CALLED A TAXI, WE WOULDN'T BE ABLE TO CATCH UP TO...

TL Note

"Kisaragi station" is an urban legend based on a series of messages in 2chan, spanning the late night of Jan. 8, 2004 to before dawn of the following day. Including the train station name, a few details in this chapter match the legend:

- "Hasumi" was the victim's name.
- No GPS.
- A "friendly" man offered Hasumi a ride.

Of course, many details from the urban legend did not get featured in this chapter, including:

- The unconscious passengers
- Getting yelled at by a one-legged man
- The approaching sounds of drums and bells
- Bloody leg and broken shoe heel from falling over

Good thing this version of Hasumi had Kaya-sama with her.