CHAPTER 47
【第二話
TO WORK れ】
The Bride's Stories by Kaoru Mori

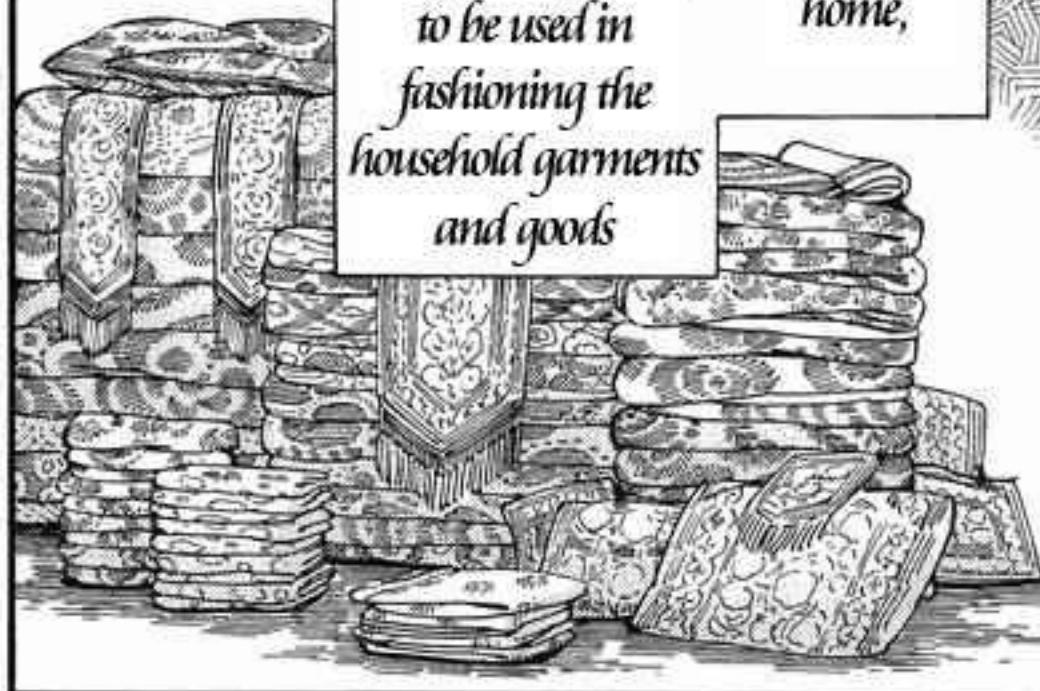

In order to assemble a suitable supply of material, as well as to practice an essential skill of all wives.

She begins preparing these fabrics from a young age, well in advance of marriage,

She brings with her a collection of ready-made fabrics, to be used in fashioning the household garments and goods

When a bride goes to join her new home,

And she must now rebuild her collection, which was nearly all lost to the flames.

However, Pariya's home was sadly destroyed in the recent conflict,

Though she made less progress than most...

Pariya, of course, was not so different in that regard.

But given the time involved...

I hoped to make up as much as we could,

How much did you want to prepare?

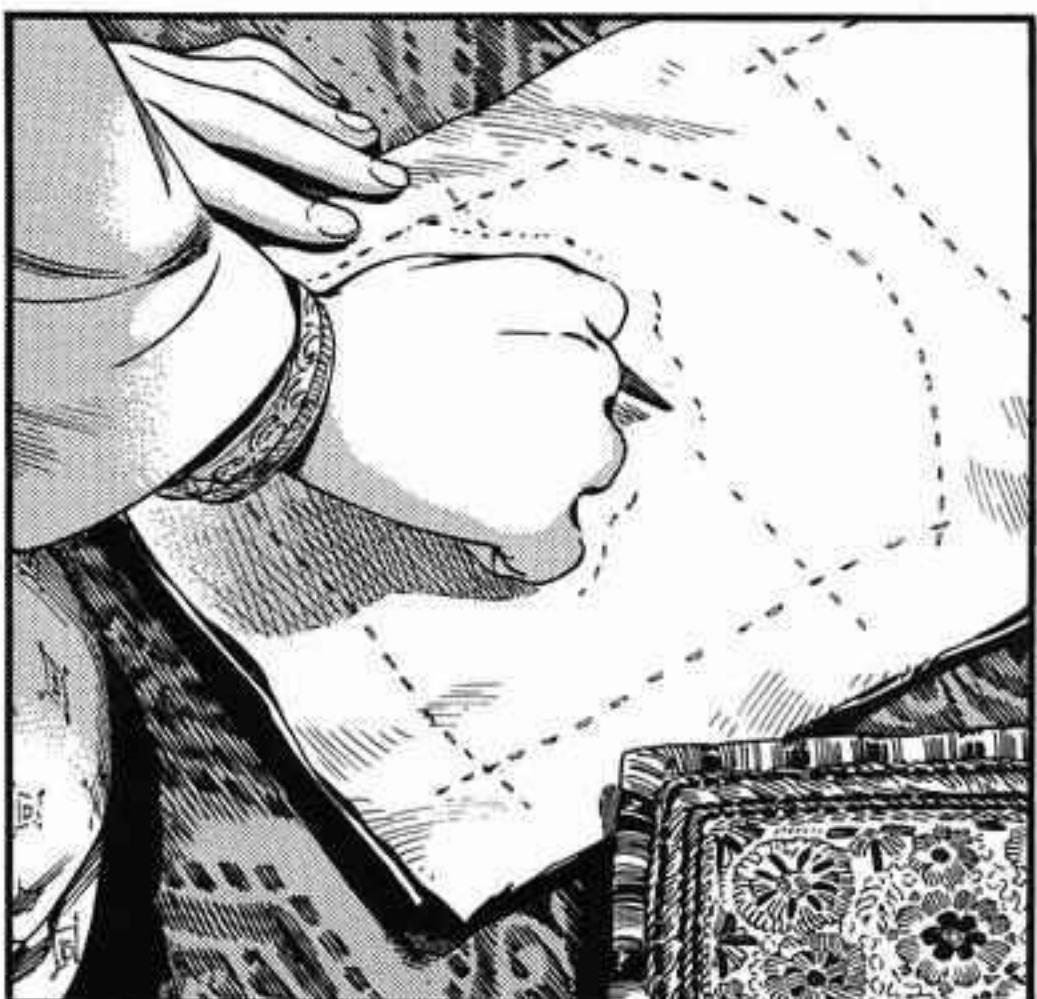

But I doubt
I'll get away
with it after being told off
like that...

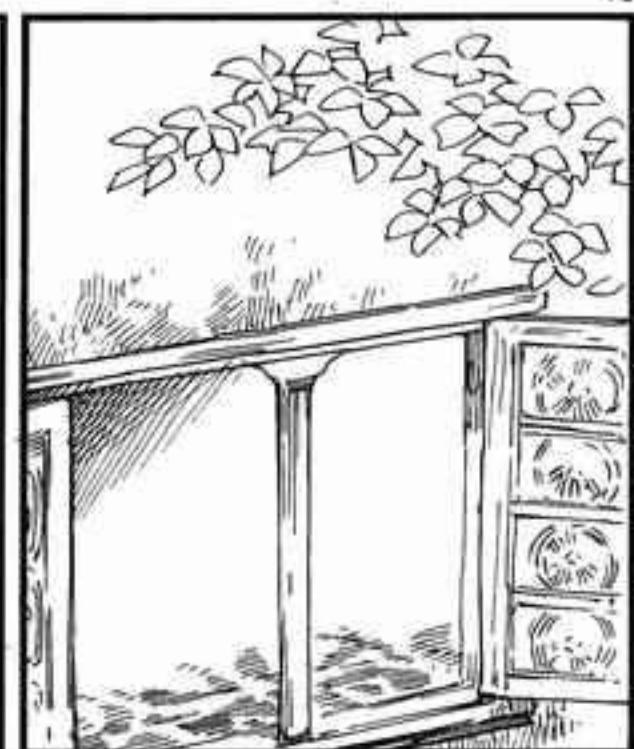

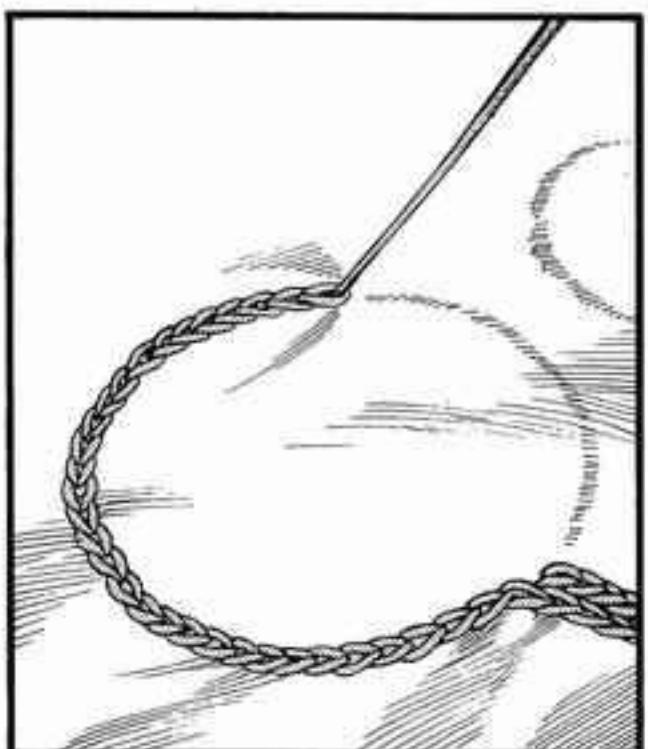

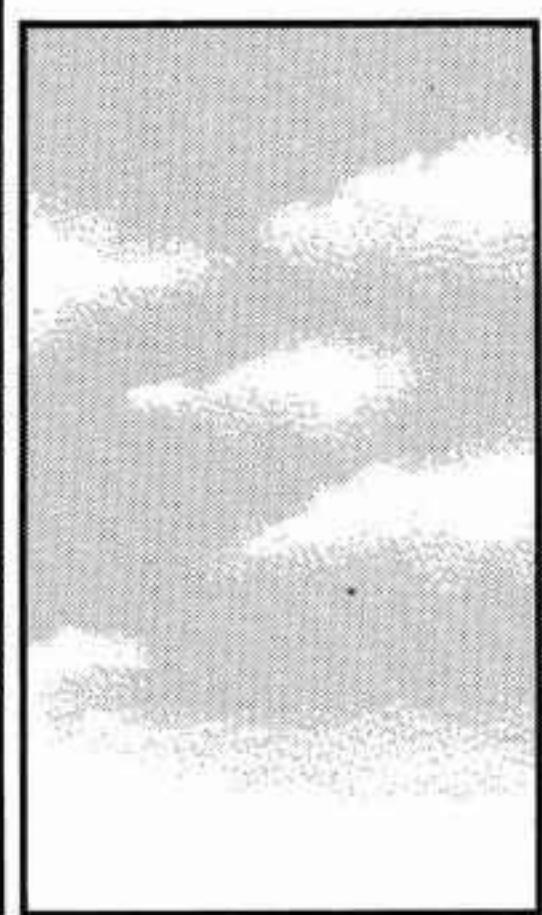

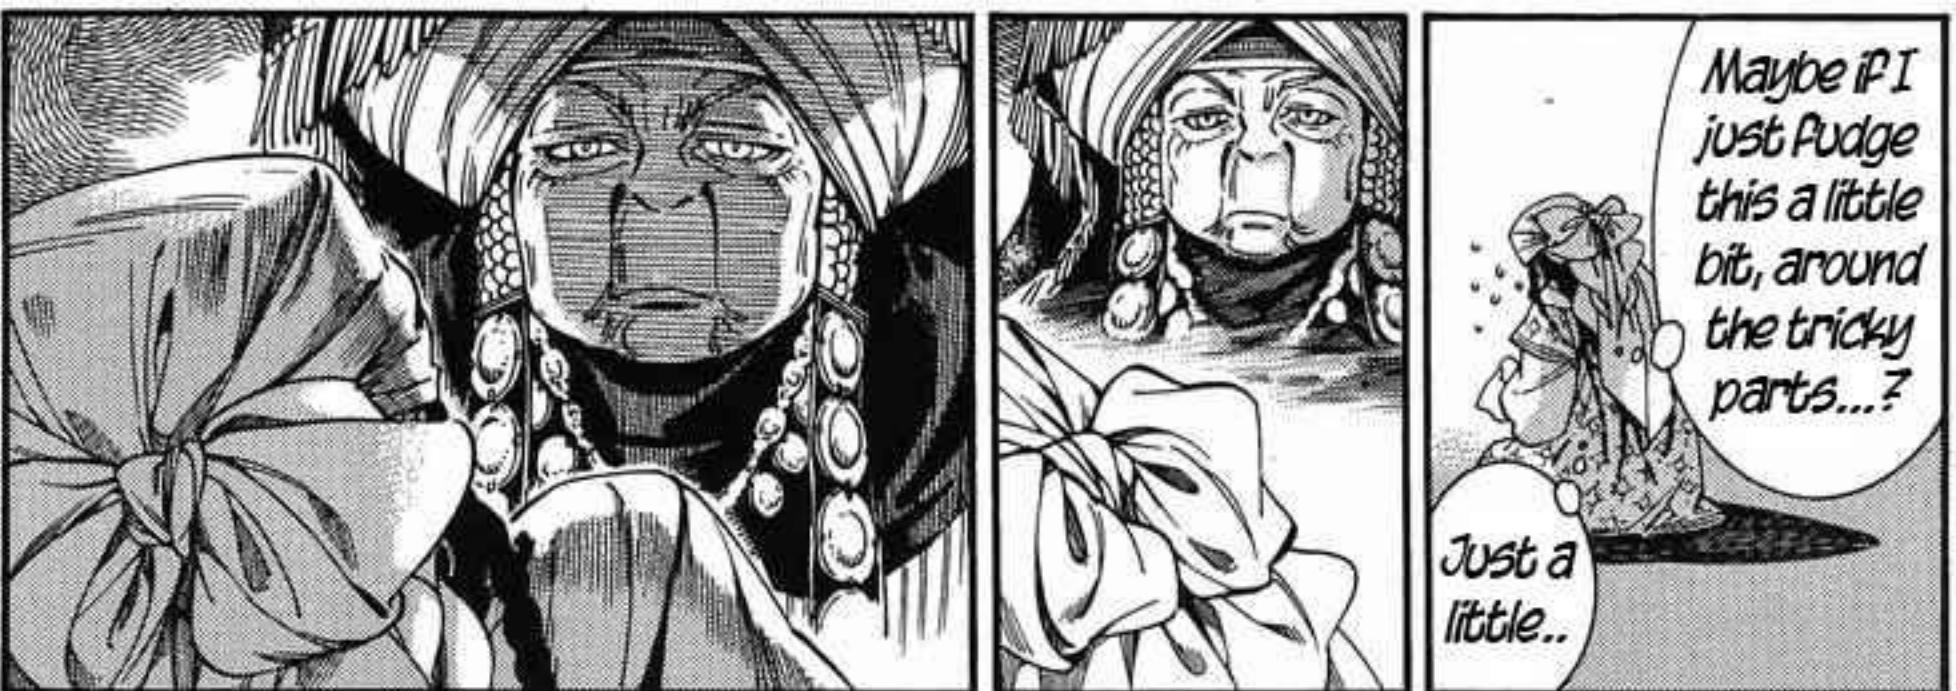

You'll
never get any better.

You decided to take it outside
today?

Pariya!

Yeah.. I thought a change of scenery might help lighten
my mood while
I do this.

It's a cute
look,
right?

Who's been braiding
my horse?
