And explore new ground each day.

Horses will seek out the wide, open areas,

They have little in common with the placid beasts who share that label.

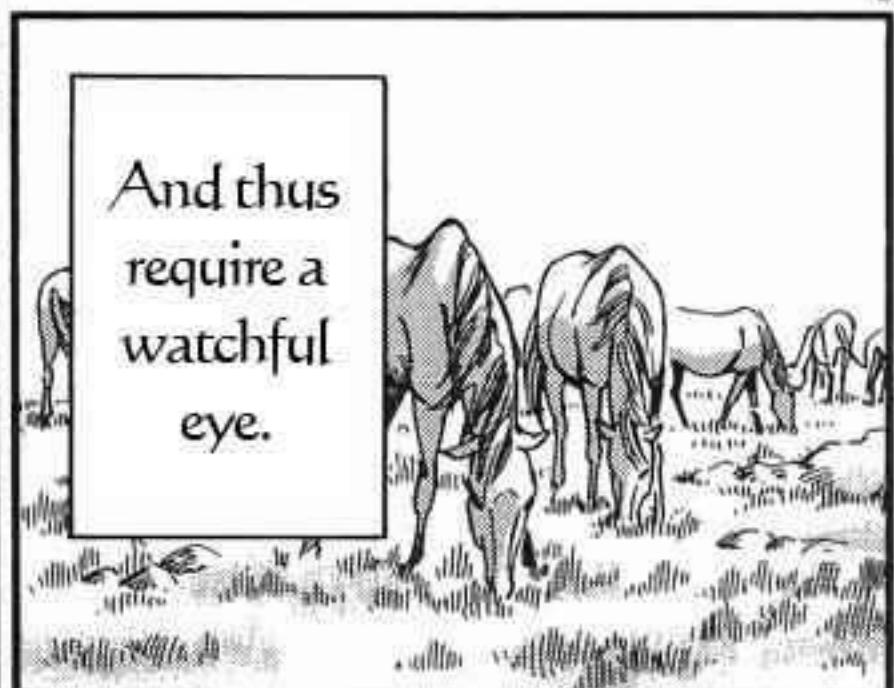

They are like not to return for many days.

Once the herd is taken out to graze,

They will not stay in a single pasture like sheep or goats,

And thus require a watchful eye.

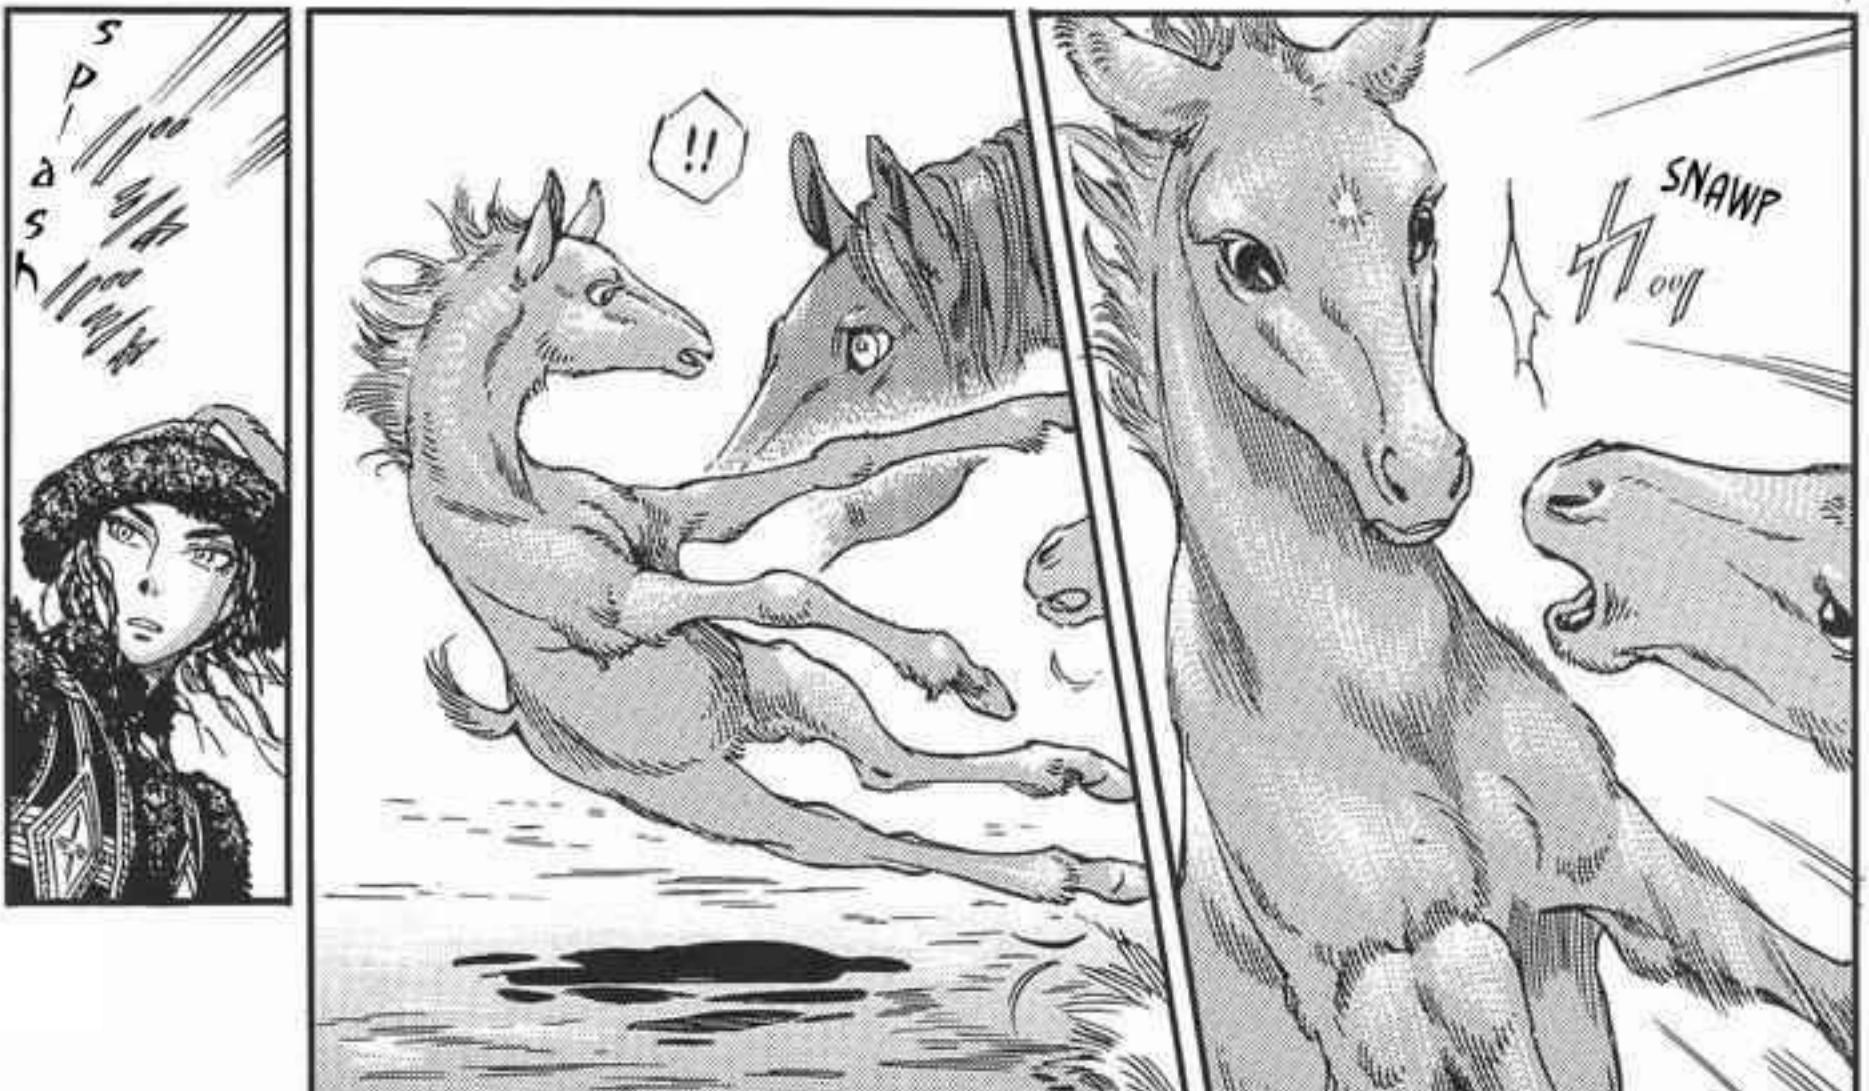

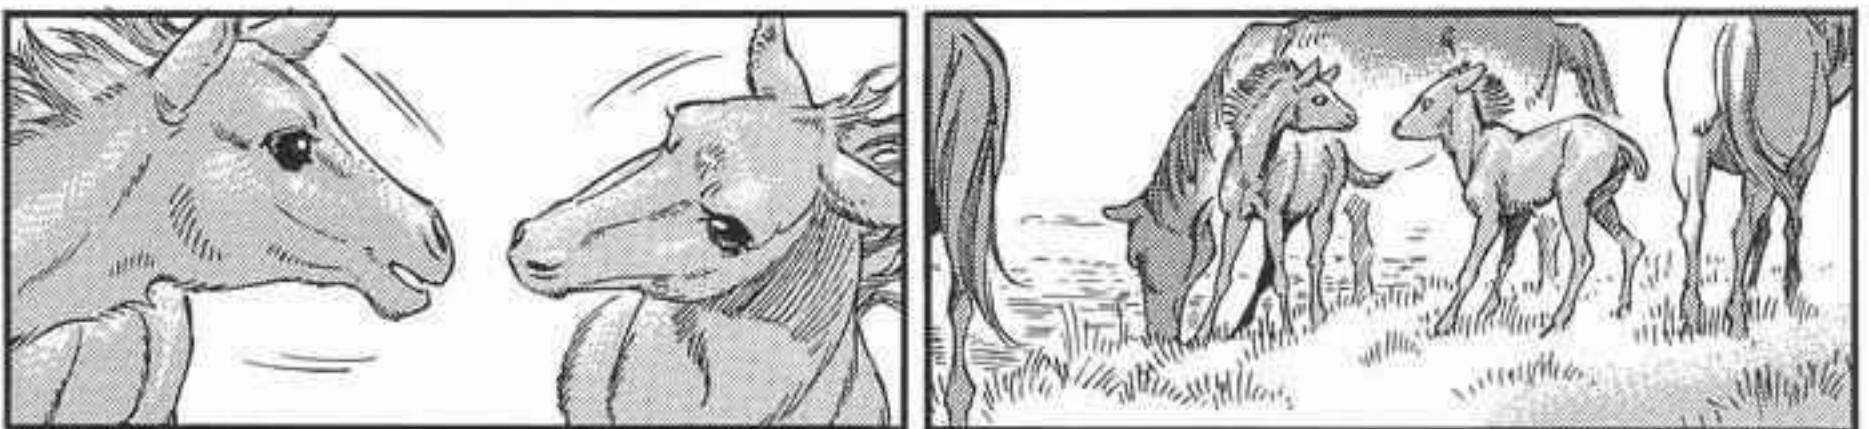

6

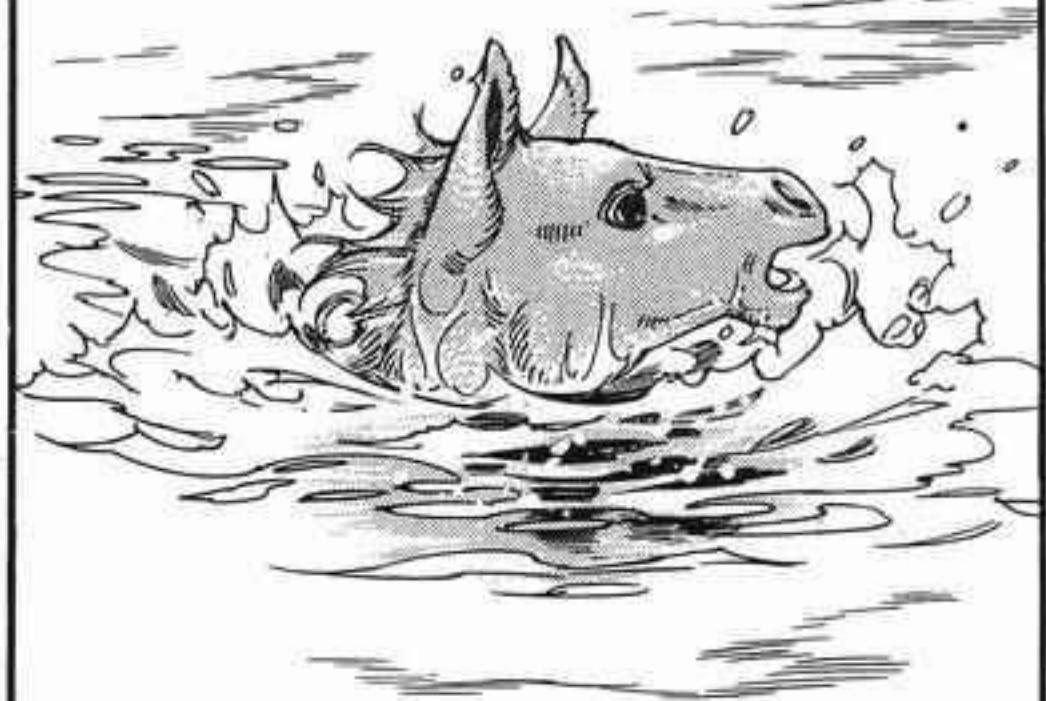

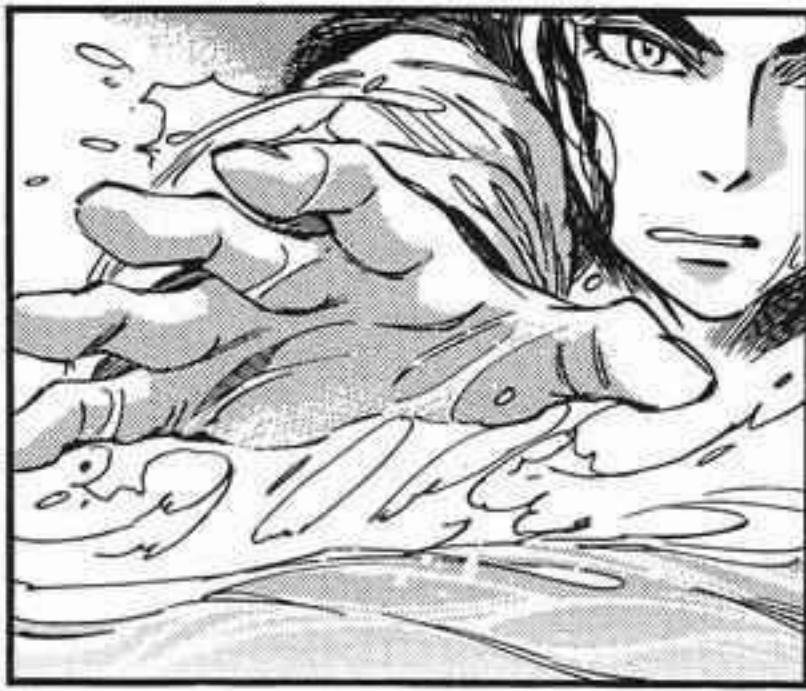

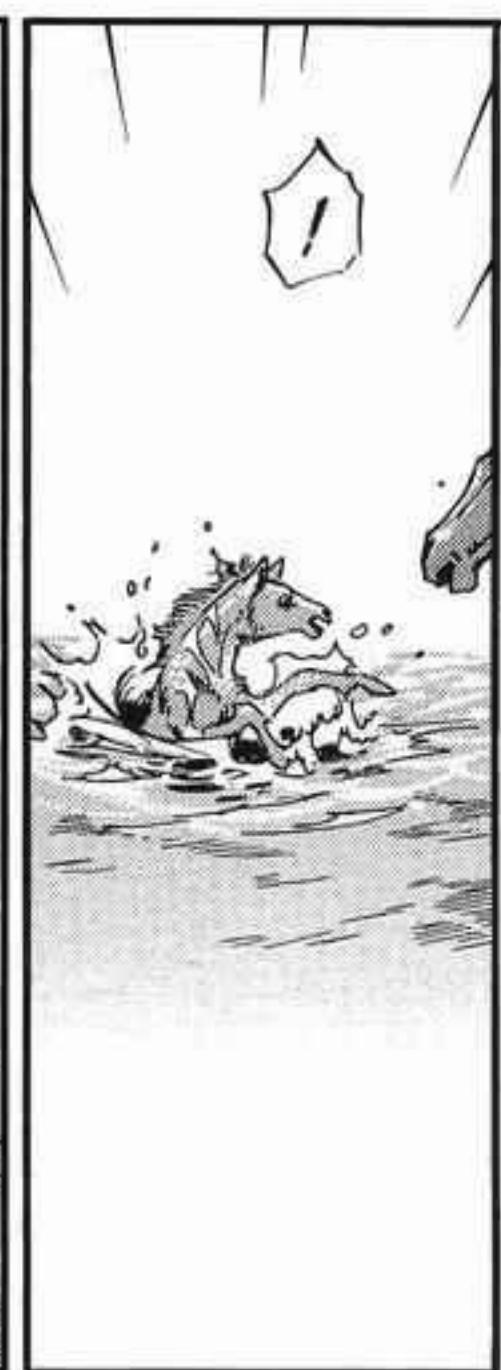

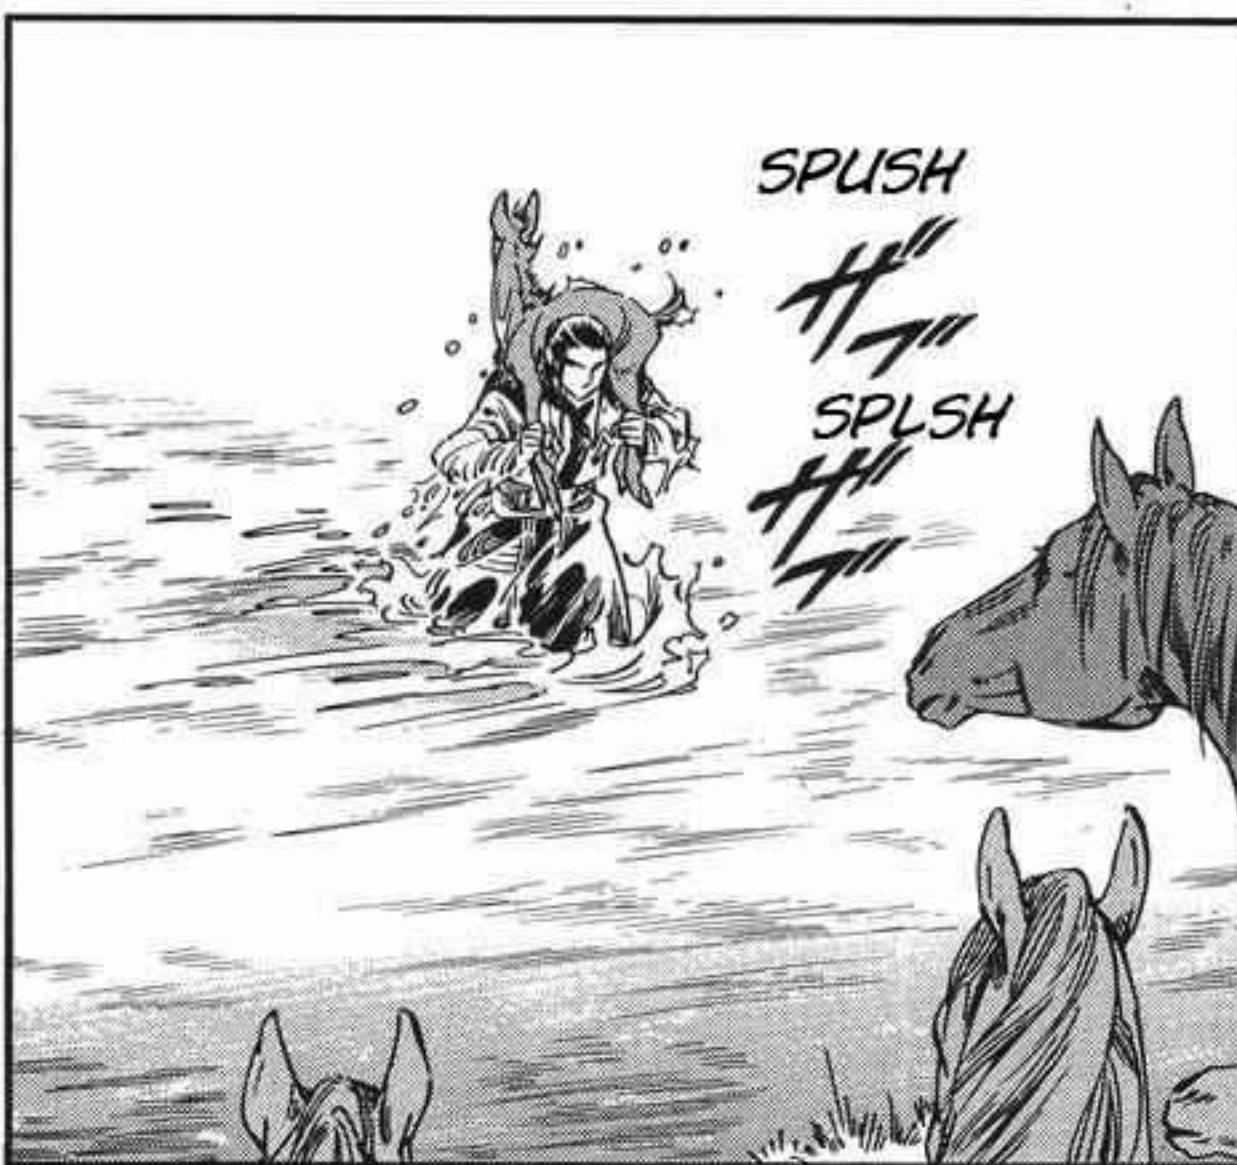

While sheep may bring their keepers wealth,

Like to livestock, but then again unlike..

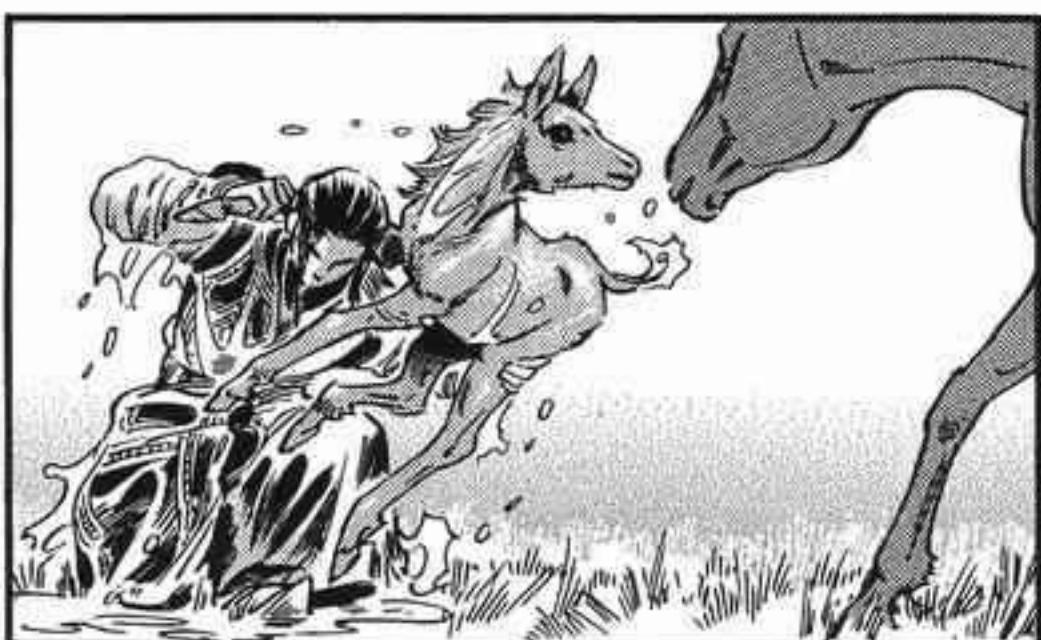

The challenge of keeping horses also brings their keepers pride.

For a practiced Bowman, they pose little trouble.

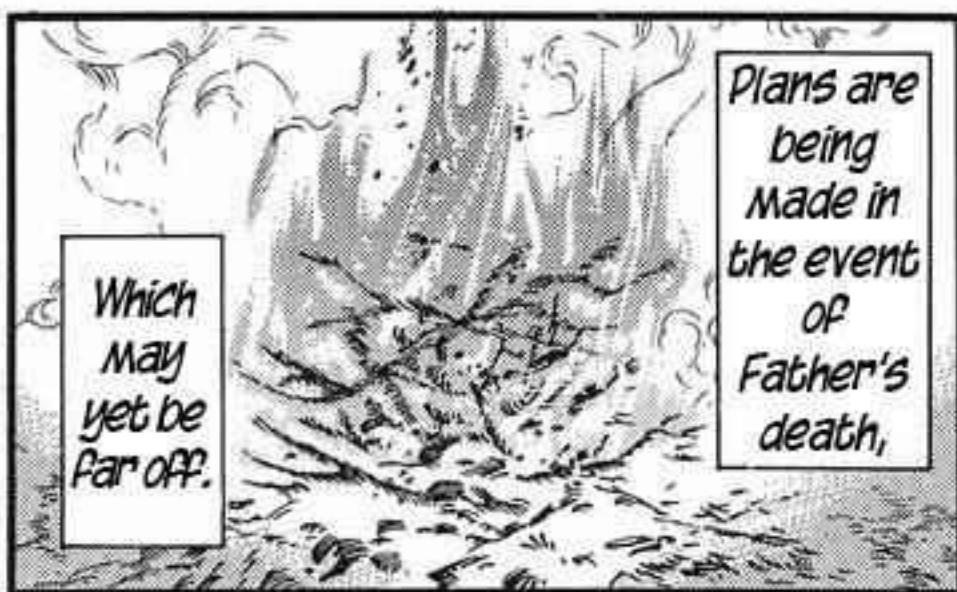

Still, they are not difficult prey.
